1 Plaintiffs Valerie Stringer, Donna Louie, Mark Steele, Dan Royse, Julie Teague, and 2 Jerahmeel Capistrano (“Plaintiffs”) respectfully submit this memorandum of points and 3 authorities in support of his motion for final approval of the class settlement and for entry of 4 judgment and order dismissing action.

5 I. INTRODUCTION

6 The parties to this Action have reached a settlement and this Court has preliminarily 7 approved the settlement by Order dated October 6, 2008. In accordance with the preliminary 8 approval order, the required notice of the proposed settlement has been disseminated to the 9 settlement class of 793 members of whom 619 (78.06%) filed claims. (See Declaration of 10 Jacqueline Hitomi at ¶18, filed herewith). The purpose of this hearing is to determine whether 11 the proposed settlement of the litigation should be finally approved, the amount of the award
12 of attorneys’ fees and costs to be paid Class Counsel, and the amount of the Plaintiffs’ service 13 award. Plaintiffs respectfully submit this Memorandum in support of final approval and the 14 proposed entry of Final Judgment of this class action.¹

15 On October 4, 2007, Valerie Stringer filed a complaint in the Superior Court for the 16 County of Alameda, State of California as Case No. RG 07349734, entitled Valerie Stringer v.
17 Kaiser Permanente, et. al., on behalf of a putative class of Product Specialists and Business 18 Application Coordinators (“BACs”) who worked on the KP HealthConnect project in 19 California. The central allegation of the Stringer lawsuit was that the BACs had been 20 misclassified as exempt. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶ 6(a).)

21 On November 13, 2007, Plaintiffs Mark Steele, Dan Royse, Julie Teague, and Jerahmeel
22 Capistrano filed a complaint in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California 23 entitled Mark Steele, et al. v. Kaiser Foundation Health Plan, Inc., Case No. 3:07-cv-05743.
24 The Steele Plaintiffs also alleged wage and hour claims on behalf of a putative class of Product 25 Specialists and BACs who worked on the KP HealthConnect project in California, asserting 26

27 ¹ Filed contemporaneously herewith is the Memorandum in Support of Award of 28 Attorneys’ Fees, costs and Plaintiffs’s award.

1 essentially the same exempt misclassification claims as those asserted in the Stringer lawsuit.

2 On May 1, 2008, Donna Louie, filed a complaint in the U.S. District Court for the 3 Southern District of California entitled Donna Louie v. Kaiser Foundation Health Plan, Inc., 4 Case No. 08 CV 0795 IEG RBB. Louie alleged similar claims as those asserted in the Stringer
5 and Steele lawsuits, but on behalf of a separate class of Site Support Specialists who were not 6 alleged as claimants in the other litigation and who worked on the KP HealthConnect project 7 in California. Louie also worked as a BAC for Kaiser.

8 In order to coordinate all lawsuits for the purposes of the Settlement, the Parties agreed 9 that the Steele and Stringer actions would be dismissed without prejudice and these plaintiffs 10 added to this action. In accordance with this agreement, counsel for Donna Louie filed an 11 amended complaint in Louie to also allege all claims set forth in the Steele and Stringer
12 lawsuits, along with adding thereto as Named Plaintiffs all Plaintiffs in the Steele and Stringer
13 actions and file the same with all Class Counsel as counsel for Plaintiffs as the First Amended 14 Complaint herein (the “Action”). [Doc No. 3].

15 The Action asserts claims for violations of the Fair Labor Standards Act (“FLSA”), the 16 California Labor Code and the California Business and Professions Code. The Named Plaintiffs 17 allege that individuals employed by Kaiser as Product Specialists, Business Application 18 Coordinators, and Site Support Specialists were not paid overtime wages for all hours worked 19 more than eight (8) in a day, forty (40) in a week, or on the seventh (7th) consecutive day of a 20 workweek, and were not provided with all meal and rest breaks as required for non-exempt
21 employees. The Action sought various statutory penalties and restitution for unfair competition 22 pursuant to California Business and Professions Code Section 17200 including disgorgement 23 of profits, recovery of pre and post judgment interest, attorneys’ fees, and costs.

24 The Settlement Class consists of “all persons who, at any time between October 4, 2003
25 and preliminary approval of the settlement [October 6, 2008], worked for Kaiser Foundation
26 Health Plan, Inc. in California in connection with KP HealthConnect in the positions of Product 27 Specialist, Business Application Coordinator (“BAC”) or Site Support Specialist. (Blumenthal 28 Decl. at ¶ 6(b).)

1 The lawsuit has been actively litigated since the first complaint was filed in October 2 2007. There has been an ongoing investigation, and Class Counsel was provided with discovery
3 and highly detailed and extensive information about the case, including Class Member data, data
4 reflecting hours worked by the Class Members, job descriptions and relevant salary information 5 for all positions at issue.

6 The defense of this case by Defendant was aggressive and contentious from the start.
7 Specifically, Plaintiffs and Defendant went through multiple meet and confer sessions and 8 arguments to resolve issues related to the positions at issue in the litigation. Specifically, in 9 Kaiser's view, the Settlement Class Members are properly classified as exempt because they 10 spend the majority of their time engaged in work directly related to the general business 11 operations of Kaiser and were, therefore, covered under the administrative exemption. While 12 Plaintiffs believed that they met the requirements for overtime compensation and in fact worked 13 the overtime hours alleged in the complaint, an adverse ruling on either of these issues could 14 have resulted in a defense verdict. Plaintiffs and the members of the Class also lacked 15 supporting documentation for their individual overtime hours, creating difficulties in 16 quantification of monetary relief at trial. Finally, Defendant contended that like many other 17 wage and hour cases, individual issues would preclude class certification. (Blumenthal Decl 18 at ¶ 6(c).)

19 The parties agreed to mediation before nationally recognized mediator Anthony Piazza.
20 Necessary discovery was provided by Defendant prior to the settlement negotiations. There 21 can be no doubt that counsel for both parties possessed sufficient information to make an 22 informed judgment regarding the likelihood of success on the merits and the results that could 23 be obtained through further litigation. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶ 7(a).)

24 The May 13, 2008 mediation session was contentious and intense. Counsel for the 25 Parties, after settlement negotiations lasting the entire day, reached an agreement, based upon 26 Mr. Piazza's expertise as a mediator and the uncertainties of protracted litigation. (Decl.
27 Blumenthal ¶ 7(c).) By reason of the settlement, Kaiser has agreed to pay $5.4 million, as 28 payment in full of all of the Class claims arising from the events described in the FAC including

1 Class Counsel's attorneys' fees and expenses, PAGA payments, Class Representatives' 2 incentive awards, and the cost of class notice and claims administration.

3 After the mediation, the specific terms of the settlement required additional negotiation
4 before the final written agreement could be signed. Class Counsel began the process of 5 reviewing the settlement terms and drafting the settlement agreement and exhibits. Even after 6 the parties reached an agreement in the memorandum of understanding, Class Counsel had to 7 ensure that the terms of the final settlement stipulation were fair to every member of the class 8 and retained the requisite opportunities for notice, exclusion, and objection in accordance with 9 California class action law. (Decl. Blumenthal ¶ 7(e).)

10 By the end of June 2008, the settlement agreement was finalized, at which time the 11 preliminary motion requesting Court approval of the settlement was prepared and filed by Class 12 Counsel.² On October 6, 2008, this Court preliminarily approved the class settlement and 13 ordered that notice of the proposed settlement be disseminated to the members of the Class.
14 Notice of the settlement providing class members with an opportunity to file a claim for 15 monetary relief, to opt out, or to object was then mailed on or about October 27, 2008 to the 16 793 current and former employees who comprise the Class. (Decl. of Hitomi at ¶5). The results 17 were that seven (7) Class Members requested exclusion and no Class Members objected to the 18 settlement. (Decl of Hitomi at ¶12).

19 Importantly, the excellent result obtained by this settlement is evidenced by the 20 overwhelmingly positive response of the Class. As detailed in the Declaration of Hitomi, with 21 respect to the BAC employees, the claims submitted represent 83.32% of the total workweeks 22 for these employees, and with respect to the SSS employees, the claims submitted represent 23 91.04% of the total workweeks for these employees. (Decl of Hitomi at ¶¶ 20-21).

26 ² A detailed discussion of the background of the case, the major events of the litigation, 27 the settlement negotiations, the terms of the proposed Settlement and its benefit to class 28 members is set forth in the Declaration of Norman B. Blumenthal ("Blum. Decl.") submitted in support of this Motion.

1 II. THE SETTLEMENT BEFORE THE COURT

2 The Class Settlement Period is the period from October 4, 2003 through October 6, 2008
3 (the date of Preliminary Approval). In consideration for settlement of this Action and a release
4 of the claims described in paragraph 8 of the Settlement Agreement, Kaiser agrees to pay a 5 Gross Fund Value sum to the Class Members not to exceed Five Million, Four Hundred 6 Thousand Dollars ($5,400,000) (“GFV”), less Class Counsel’s attorneys’ fees, costs and 7 expenses, the Named Plaintiffs’ incentive awards, PAGA payments, and the costs of settlement 8 administration. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶ 3(a).) The remaining Net Fund Value (“NFV”) will be 9 distributed as follows:

10 Each participating Settlement Class Member (“Participating Class Member”) will be 11 entitled to a share of the NFV. To the extent that Class Members opt out or members of the 12 Settlement Class fail to submit a valid Claim Forms so as to become a Participating Class
13 Member their share of the NFV shall not revert to Kaiser, but rather shall first be used to pay 14 the employer’s share of payroll taxes with the balance then being redistributed to the 15 Participating Class Members as part of the Settlement Amount available for distribution. The 16 distribution of this excess unclaimed portion of the NFV over and above the amount required 17 to cover the employer share of payroll taxes shall be proportional to each class claimant’s 18 original provisional share of the NFV as per paragraph 12(d)(1) of the Settlement Agreement.
19 (Decl. Blumenthal, ¶ 3(b).)

20 As per paragraph 12(d)(2) of the Settlement Agreement, the class shall be broken into 21 a BAC/Product Specialist Subclass and a Site Support Specialist Subclass. The portion of the 22 NFV to pay claims shall be divided so that 40.74% of the fund is allocated to the Site Support
23 Specialist subclass and 59.26% is allocated to the BAC/Product Specialist subclass. The Claims 24 Administrator shall initially determine each Class Members’ share of the NFV. The initial 25 calculation shall determine the total number of work weeks of each Class Member for the Class
26 Period between October 4, 2003 and October 6, 2008, and then dividing each Class Members 27 applicable work weeks by the total of all the applicable work weeks for that employees’ 28

1 subclass to get a percentage of the NFV to be allocated to the Class Members as their share
2 under the initial calculation. Where employees worked in both subclasses, the administrator 3 shall perform a separate calculation for their share as derived from work in each subclass. For 4 purposes of this calculation, a “workweek” shall be defined as the total number of payroll hours
5 the employee worked during the class period in a Product Specialist, BAC, or Site Support 6 Specialist position, divided by 40. The final calculation of the total number of work weeks for 7 the Class shall be determined for the Class Period from October 4, 2003 and October 6, 2008.
8 The Claims Administrator shall advise counsel for both Parties as to the final calculation of total 9 work weeks. (See Decl of Hitomi at ¶¶ 20-21). The final calculation shall first determine the 10 correct GFV and the NFV are properly calculated. Next the Participating Class Members shall 11 be allocated their prorated share of the available NFV using the formula set forth herein above.
12 To the extent that this amount reallocates any non-reversionary amount to these Participating 13 Class Members that amount shall first be used to pay employer’s share of payroll taxes for the 14 Participating Class Member.

15 As per paragraph 12(c)(2) of the Settlement Agreement, Kaiser and their counsel will not 16 oppose an attorneys’ fees award to Class Counsel of 25% of the Settlement Amount, or 17 $1,350,000 to be deducted from the GFV, to compensate Class Counsel for all of the work 18 already performed in this case and all of the work remaining to be performed in documenting 19 the Settlement, securing Court approval of the Settlement, making sure that the Settlement is 20 fairly administered and implemented and obtaining dismissal of the actions. Separate from this 21 award for attorneys’ fees, Class Counsel shall be entitled to recoup up to $100,000 for their 22 reasonable litigation costs. (Decl. Blumenthal, ¶ 3(c).)

23 As per paragraph 12(c)(4) of the Settlement Agreement, Class Counsel will request that 24 each Class Representative receive an incentive award to be deducted from the GFV, of $25,000
25 per Named Plaintiff for their service as a Class Representative, in addition to their individual 26 claim for a share to which they are otherwise entitled through the claims process. Kaiser will 27 not oppose this request. (Decl. Blumenthal, ¶ 3(d).)

28

1 As per paragraph 12(c)(3) of the Settlement Agreement, the reasonable costs of the 2 Claims Administrator associated with the administration of this Settlement not to exceed 3 $50,000 will be paid for from the GFV. The Claims Administrator was CPT Group. (Decl.
4 Blumenthal, ¶ 3(e).) CPT has verified that CPT will incur a total of $40,000.00 in costs 5 associated with the administration of the Settlement. (Decl. of Hitomi at ¶22).

6 As per paragraph 12(c)(1) of the Settlement Agreement, the Parties have allocated a total
7 of Thirty-three Thousand Three Hundred Thirty Three Dollars and Thirty-three Cents
8 ($33,333.33) to a PAGA Settlement Fund. Kaiser agrees to establish a segregated PAGA
9 Settlement Fund from the GFV consisting of a maximum of $33,333.33. Labor Code section 10 2699(i) requires that any settlement under this section is distributed as follows: 75% to the 11 State's LWDA for enforcement of labor laws and education of employers and 25 % to aggrieved 12 employees. Therefore, $25,000 will be paid to the State. The remaining $8,333.33 will be 13 distributed on a pro rata basis to Qualified Claimants, as defined in paragraph 14(c) (the "PAGA 14 Award"). (Decl. Blumenthal, ¶ 3(f).)

15 The settlement is fair, adequate and reasonable to the class and should be finally 16 approved. (Blumenthal Decl. ¶3(g).) In sum, this settlement valued at $5.4 million is an 17 excellent result and provides the Class Members with the opportunity to receive a substantial 18 recovery of thousands of dollars to each claimant. This result is particularly remarkable in light 19 of the fact that there were no records showing that precise amount of overtime worked by the 20 Class Members worked. Further, liability in this case was far from certain because some or all 21 of the Class Members may have been exempt from overtime pay requirements as Defendants 22 asserted in this litigation as some courts have found in employment cases involving similar 23 facts. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶ 3(g).)

24 25 III. THE SETTLEMENT MEETS THE CRITERIA NECESSARY FOR THIS COURT 26 TO GRANT FINAL APPROVAL

27 When a proposed class-wide settlement is reached, it must be submitted to the court for 28 approval. 2 H. Newberg & A. Conte, Newberg on Class Actions (3d ed. 1992) at §11.41, p.11-

1 87. Court approval of a class settlement is considered at a final settlement approval hearing, at 2 which evidence and argument concerning the fairness, adequacy, and reasonableness of the 3 settlement may be presented and class members may be heard regarding the settlement. See 4 Manual for Complex Litigation, Second §30.44 (1993). During final approval, the court must 5 determine whether the settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate. See Officers for Justice v.
6 Civil Service Com'n, etc., 688 F.2d. 615, 625 (9th Cir. 1982) and Fed. Rules Civ. Proc., rule 7 23(e).

8 Governing the settlement of class actions, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, §23 (e) 9 specifically provides:

10 The court may approve a settlement, voluntary dismissal, or compromise that 11 would bind class members only after a hearing and on finding that the settlement, voluntary dismissal, or compromise is fair, reasonable, and adequate.

12 F.R.C.P. § 23(e)(1)(c).

13 Class action settlements should be approved where (1) the proposed settlement is fairly 14 and honestly negotiated; (2) serious questions of law and fact exist placing the ultimate outcome 15 of the litigation in doubt; (3) the value of an immediate recovery outweighs the mere possibility 16 of future relief after protracted and expensive litigation; and (4) the parties have determined that 17 the settlement is fair and reasonable. Jones v. Nuclear Pharmacy, Inc., 741 F.2d 322, 324 (5th 18 Cir. 1984); Marcus v. State of Kansas, 209 F. Supp. 2d 1179 (D.Kan. 2002); Lopez v. City of 19 Santa Fe, 206 F.R.D. 285, 288 (D.N.M. 2002). Each of those four criteria is satisfied here.

20 As discussed in detail below, this Settlement was reached through arm's-length 21 negotiations and with the assistance of mediation conducted by the preeminent mediator, 22 Anthony Piazza on May 13, 2008. The Settlement was negotiated by experienced counsel for 23 the Class who vigorously protected the interests of the Class Members. There were complex 24 legal and factual issues that placed the ultimate outcome of this litigation in doubt.
25 Accordingly, the immediate value of the settlement to the Class Members far outweighs the 26 possibility of relief if this protracted and expensive litigation had continued through trial and 27 appeal. Finally, the considered judgment of all parties to the Settlement is that the Settlement 28

1 is fair and reasonable in light of the immediate benefit provided by the Settlement to the Class
2 Members, which is a conclusion that is reinforced by the overwhelming response of the Class 3 Members submitting claims.

4 Settlements of disputed claims are favored by the courts. Waits v. Weller, 653 F.2d 5 1288, 1291 (9th Cir 1981) (“settlement encouraged in appropriate class action settlements”). In 6 evaluating settlements, the courts have long recognized that compromise is particularly 7 appropriate since such litigation is difficult and notoriously uncertain.

8 Settlement is especially favored in class actions because it minimizes the litigation 9 expenses of all parties and reduces the strain on judicial resources. Officers for Justice, supra, 10 688 F.2d at 625 (“voluntary conciliation and settlement are the preferred means of dispute 11 resolution. This is especially true in complex class action litigation”); Cotton v. Hinton, 559 12 F.2d 1326, 1331 (5th Cir.1977) (“Particularly in class action suits, there is an overriding public 13 interest in favor of settlement.”); In re Dept. Of Energy Stripper Well Exemption Litig., 653 14 F.Supp. 108, 115 (D.Kan.1986) (“It is in the interests of the courts and the parties that there 15 should be an end to litigation and the law favors the peaceful settlement of controversies.”)

16 “[T]he court’s intrusion upon what is otherwise a private consensual agreement 17 negotiated between the parties to a lawsuit must be limited to the extent necessary to reach a 18 reasoned judgment that the agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching by, or 19 collusion between, the negotiating parties, and that the settlement, taken as a whole, is fair, 20 reasonable and adequate to all concerned.” Officers for Justice, supra, 688 F.2d at 625. Under 21 this standard, the court must decide whether the proposed settlement falls within the range of 22 reasonable settlements, taking into account that settlements are compromises between the 23 parties reflecting subjective, unquantifiable judgments concerning the risks and possible 24 outcomes of litigation. Id.

25 In cases such as this one, courts have repeatedly emphasized that there is a strong initial 26 presumption that the compromise is fair and reasonable. In re Heritage Bond Litig., 2005 U.S.
27 Dist. Lexis 13555, at *11 (C.D. Cal. 2005). Courts are advised not to adjudicate the merits of 28

1 the action, nor substitute their judgment for that of the parties who negotiated the settlement, 2 nor should they reopen and enter into negotiations with the litigants in the hopes of improving 3 the terms of the settlement. Id., at *11; Officers for Justice, supra 688 F.2d at 625.

4 The essential evaluation is whether, given the risks of litigation and the range of probable 5 results, the settlement, taken as a whole, is fair, reasonable and adequate to all concerned.
 6 Officers for Justice, supra 688 F.2d at 625; Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1026 (9th 7 Cir. 1998). Here, the facts and circumstances compel the conclusion that the proposed 8 settlement satisfies that standard.

10 IV. THE SETTLEMENT IS FAIR, REASONABLE AND ADEQUATE

11 A. The Test for Fairness

12 To determine whether a proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate, courts 13 consider some or all of the following factors: “(1) the strength of plaintiffs' case; (2) the risk, 14 expense, complexity and likely duration of further litigation; (3) the risk of maintaining class 15 action status throughout the trial; (4) the amount offered in settlement; (5) the extent of 16 discovery completed and the stage of proceedings; (6) the experience and views of counsel; (7) 17 the presence of a governmental participant; and (8) the reaction of the class members to the 18 proposed settlement.” Officers for Justice, supra, 688 F.2d at 625.

19 The list of factors is not exhaustive and should be tailored to each case. Id., at 625. Due 20 regard should be given to what is otherwise a private consensual agreement between the parties.
 21 Id. The inquiry “must be limited to the extent necessary to reach a reasoned judgment that the 22 agreement is not the product of fraud or overreaching by, or collusion between, the negotiating 23 parties, and that the settlement, taken as a whole, is fair, reasonable and adequate to all 24 concerned.” Id., at 625. “Ultimately, the [trial] court's determination is nothing more than 25 ‘an amalgam of delicate balancing, gross approximations and rough justice.’”³ Id.

 28 indicated.

1 The question whether a proposed settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate necessarily 2 requires a judgment and evaluation by the attorneys for the parties based upon a comparison of 3 “the terms of the compromise with the likely rewards of litigation.” Weinberger v. Kendrick, 4 698 F.2d 61, 73 (2d Cir. 1982), cert. denied 464 U.S. 818 (1983) (quoting Protective Comm.
5 for Indep. Stockholders of TMT Trailer Ferry, Inc. v. Anderson, 390 U.S. 414, 424-25 (1968)).
6 Therefore, many courts recognize that the opinion of experienced counsel supporting the 7 settlement is entitled to considerable weight. Kirkorian v. Borelli, 695 F. Supp. 446, 451 (N.D.
8 Cal. 1988); Reed v. General Motors Corp., 703 F.2d 170, 175 (5th Cir. 1983); Weinberger, 698
9 F.2d at 74; Armstrong v. Board of School Directors, 616 F.2d 305, 325 (7th Cir. 1980); Fisher 10 Bros. v. Cambridge-Lee Indus., Inc., 630 F. Supp. 482, 489 (E.D. Pa. 1985). For example, in 11 Lyons v. Marrud, Inc., [1972-1973 Transfer Binder] Fed. Sec. L. Rep. (CCH) Paragraph 93,525 12 (S.D.N.Y. 1972), the court noted that “[e]xperienced and competent counsel have assessed these 13 problems and the probability of success on the merits. They have concluded that compromise 14 is well-advised and necessary. The parties' decision regarding the respective merits of their 15 position has an important bearing on this case.” Id. at ¶ 92,520.

17 B. The Settlement Satisfies the Test for Fairness

18 1. The Investigation and Discovery are Sufficient to Allow Counsel
19 and the Court to Act Intelligently

20 The stage of the proceedings at which this settlement was reached militates in favor of 21 final approval of the settlement. The agreement to settle did not occur until Class Counsel 22 possessed sufficient information to make an informed judgment regarding the likelihood of 23 success on the merits and the monetary results that could be obtained through further litigation.
24 There was no need for continued litigation simply to reaffirm what was already known by the 25 negotiating parties.

26 During the relevant time period of 2003 through 2008, Kaiser was in the business of 27 providing medical insurance, billing and services. To maintain a coordinated computer system 28 for Kaiser’s business, entitled KP HealthConnect, Defendant employed a substantial number

1 of employees to implement, train and maintain the KP HealthConnect system. When Defendant
2 employed these employees, Defendant designated these employees as “exempt” from overtime 3 compensation requirements imposed by California law.

4 These related class actions were filed on October 4, 2007, November 13, 2007 and May 5 1, 2008 by SSS and BAC employees of Kaiser. Following discussions between counsel, the 6 existing Stringer action and the existing Steele action filed November 13, 2007, were folded into 7 this case in the consolidated First Amended Complaint. [Doc. No. 3]. The theory of the case 8 was that the Plaintiffs and putative class members were not exempt from overtime because they 9 did not qualify for the “administrative” exemption and were therefore misclassified by Kaiser.

10 Kaiser opposed this claim, and argued that the general “administrative” exemption 11 applied to Plaintiff because they exercised discretion on matters of general importance to 12 Kaiser’s general business operations. The defense of these cases by Defendant was aggressive 13 and contentious from the start. Of the defenses asserted by Defendants, the factual defenses 14 asserted to support the exemption from overtime compensation, to reduce the size of the class 15 and to diminish the number of overtime hours worked presented the most serious threats to the 16 claims asserted. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶8(c).) Plaintiffs obtained information concerning the 17 positions themselves, including the job descriptions, as well as dates of employment and 18 compensation paid to each class member. The parties then decided to use the services of a 19 mediator to see if the case could be resolved, and engaged Anthony Piazza for this purpose.

20 Class Counsel has litigated similar overtime cases against other employers, including 21 overtime cases on behalf of computer support personnel. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶2.) Although 22 Plaintiffs and Class Counsel believed that their case had merit, they recognized the potential 23 risks, both sides would face if litigation of this action continued. As the federal court recently 24 held in Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8476 (N.D.Cal. January 27 2007), 25 where the parties faced uncertainties similar to those in this litigation:

26 In light of the above-referenced uncertainty in the law, the risk, expense, 27 complexity, and likely duration of further litigation likewise favors the settlement.
28 Regardless of how this Court might have ruled on the merits of the legal issues, the losing party likely would have appealed, and the parties would have faced the

1 expense and uncertainty of litigating an appeal. "The expense and possible 2 duration of the litigation should be considered in evaluating the reasonableness
3 of [a] settlement." See In re Mego Financial Corp. Securities Litigation, 213 F.3d 4 454, 458 (9th Cir. 2000). Here, the risk of further litigation is substantial.

5 Id. at *12.

6 Lengthy mediation briefs were researched and prepared. Accounting experts were 7 engaged by the parties to prepare different calculations of the damages under possible outcome
8 scenarios. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶7(a).)

9 During the mediation, which was both contentious and arm's-length, Kaiser vigorously 10 disputed liability, and especially whether the administrative exemption applied to the class 11 members, and disputed the number of overtime hours alleged to have been worked. Moreover, 12 Kaiser disputed that the class could be certified because individual issues predominated as to 13 the applicability of the professional and administrative exemptions that would to be separately 14 determined for each Class Member based on their individual experience. While other cases 15 have approved class certification in overtime wage claims, class certification in this action 16 would have been hotly disputed and was by no means a foregone conclusion. (Blumenthal Decl 17 at ¶7(b).)

18 Based on the complexity of the case, the novelty of the legal issues, the substantial risks 19 and uncertainty of the outcome on both liability and certification issues, as well as the need to 20 ascertain damages without precise time records, Plaintiffs believe that the result is an excellent 21 one and is more than fair and in the best interests of the Class Members. There can be no doubt 22 that counsel for both parties possessed sufficient information to make an informed judgment 23 regarding the likelihood of success on the merits and the results that could be obtained through 24 further litigation, given the relative strengths and weaknesses of their positions. Blumenthal 25 Decl. at ¶ 7(d).

26 2. The Settlement Was Reached Through Arm's Length Bargaining

27 This settlement was the result of arm's-length negotiations as well as formal and informal 28 settlement conferences between the parties through their respective attorneys. Through

1 extensive formal and informal discovery procedures, Kaiser disclosed confidential information 2 relating to their organization, the various employment positions, the size of the putative class, 3 the overtime hours recorded, salary ranges and the total number of workweeks for the Class.
4 After comprehensive legal and factual analysis, including the factual and legal defenses asserted
5 and prepared by Kaiser, Class Counsel possessed sufficient information for intelligent 6 evaluation of the case for purposes of settlement. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶7).

7 Prior to the initiation of settlement discussions, Class Counsel reviewed and outlined the 8 case based upon the provided information, and determined the conditions of settlement which 9 would be fair and reasonable to the Class. Class Counsel was experienced in the types of 10 settlement appropriate to resolve these overtime claims, as Class Counsel has previously 11 litigated and settled other employment actions, including a previous employment action against 12 Kaiser. Initial informal settlement discussions were productive and encouraged both parties to 13 further analyze their positions and to pursue settlement. (Blumenthal Decl. at ¶7.)

14 Following this discovery and discussion between counsel,, the parties agreed to 15 mediation before Anthony Piazza, one of the preeminent mediators for wage and hour class 16 actions. The all-day mediation session held on May 13, 2008 was intense, with neither side 17 giving ground throughout the entire day. At the end of the day, after his independent review 18 of the facts in this case, Mr. Piazza determined the amount that he believed was fair, reasonable, 19 and adequate, and recommended a settlement amount to the parties as the mediator's proposal 20 that was not subject to further negotiation. Counsel for the parties, after contentious 21 negotiations, both agreed to accept the mediator's proposal, which was given great weight by 22 the parties given Mr. Piazza's expertise as a mediator and the uncertainties and cost of the years 23 of litigation the parties faced if the mediators' nonnegotiable proposal was not accepted.
24 (Blumenthal Decl. at ¶7.) Most importantly, Plaintiff and Class Counsel believe that this 25 settlement is fair, reasonable and adequate. By reason of the settlement, Kaiser agreed to make 26 a payment of Five Million, Four Hundred Thousand Dollars ($ 5.4 million) in full discharge of 27 all claims asserted in this action, without a reversion to Kaiser except for payment of taxes, as 28

1 payment in full of all claims arising from the events described in the Complaint including Class
2 Counsel's attorneys' fees and costs, incentive awards for the Class Representatives, PAGA 3 payments, and the cost of class notice and claims administration.

4 After the mediation, the specific terms of the settlement required additional negotiation
5 before the final written agreement could be signed. Class Counsel began the process of 6 reviewing the settlement terms and drafting the settlement agreement and exhibits. Even after 7 the parties reached an agreement, Class Counsel had to ensure that the terms of the Settlement 8 were fair to every member of the class and contained the requisite opportunities for notice, 9 exclusion, and objection in accordance with California class action law. By the end of June 10 2008, the settlement agreement was finalized and executed, at which time the preliminary 11 motion requesting Court approval of the settlement was prepared and filed by Class Counsel.
12 On October 6, 2008, this Court preliminarily approved the class settlement as fair, reasonable 13 and adequate, and ordered that notice of the proposed settlement be disseminated to the 14 members of the Class. Notice of the settlement providing class members with an opportunity 15 to opt out or object was then mailed by October 27, 2008 to the 793 employees who comprise 16 the Class. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶7.) In response to the notice, not one Class Member has 17 objected to the proposed settlement. Plaintiff and Class Counsel believe that this settlement is 18 fair, reasonable and adequate. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶3(d) and ¶4).

19 20 3. Counsel is Experienced in Similar Litigation

21 Class Counsel in this matter has extensive class action experience in many fields and has 22 represented thousands of persons nationwide in actions including labor and overtime litigation, 23 securities shareholder litigation, constitutional challenges to state and local statutes, collateral 24 protection insurance cases, consumer refund actions and tobacco litigation. An exhaustive list 25 of previous and current class action cases managed and settled by the Class Counsel in this 26 action is provided to the Court by way of the Declaration of Norman Blumenthal submitted in 27 support of this motion. Class Counsel have participated in every aspect of the settlement 28

1 discussions and have concluded the settlement is fair, adequate and reasonable and in the best
2 interests of the Class. (Blumenthal Decl. at ¶ 2 and ¶ 3(d); Declaration of Workman at ¶13.)

4 4. There Are No Objectors to the Settlement and Few Opt-Outs

5 After dissemination of the class notice to the 793 members of the Class, which provided 6 each class member with the terms of the settlement, not one class member has filed an 7 objection to the settlement and only seven class members have opted out of the settlement.
8 (Blumenthal Decl. at ¶ 4.) The absence of any objector strongly supports the fairness, 9 reasonableness and adequacy of the Settlement. See In re Austrian & German Bank Holocaust 10 Litigation 80 F. Supp. 2d 164, 175 (S.D.N.Y. 2000) (“If only a small number of objections are 11 received, that fact can be viewed as indicative of the adequacy of the settlement.”); Stoetzn 12 v. U.S. Steel Corp., 897 F.2d 115, 118-119 (3d. Cir. 1990) (29 objections out of 281 member 13 class 'strongly favors settlement'); Laskey v. Int'l Union, 638 F.2d 954 (6th Cir. 1981) (The fact 14 that 7 out of 109 class members objected to the proposed settlement should be considered when 15 determining fairness of settlement.)

16 Importantly, every Class Member was given the opportunity to participate in the 17 Settlement under the same terms. Of the total 712 BAC employees in the Class, there are Five 18 Hundred and Fifty Three (553) claims submitted representing 77.67% of the BAC employees, 19 resulting in a total of 31,642 weeks claimed which represents 83.32% of the total workweeks 20 for BAC employees. (Declaration of Hitomi at ¶20). Of the total 159 SSS employees in the 21 Class, there are One Hundred and Thirty Seven (137) claims submitted representing 86.16% of 22 the SSS employees, resulting in a total of 9,306 weeks claimed which represents 91.04% of the 23 total workweeks for SSS employees. (Declaration of Hitomi at ¶21).

24 Here given the fact that not one Class Member objected and the overwhelming majority 25 of Class Members filed claims, the Court can conclude that the settlement is fair, reasonable and 26 adequate.

1 5. The Risk, Expense, Complexity, and Likely Duration of Further 2 Litigation

3 The complexities and duration of further litigation cannot be overstated. As discussed 4 above, Kaiser asserted substantial and real defenses to this action. Even if Plaintiffs were 5 successful on class certification and at trial, there is little doubt that Defendant would post a 6 bond and appeal in the event of an adverse judgment. A post-judgment appeal by Defendant 7 would have required many more years to resolve, assuming the judgment was affirmed. If the 8 judgment was not affirmed in total, then the case could have dragged on for years after the 9 appeal. The benefits of a guaranteed recovery today, of the very remedy that Plaintiff would 10 seek at trial, outweigh an uncertain result three or more years in the future. (Blumenthal Decl.
11 at ¶ 8(a).)

12 Both the Plaintiffs and Class Counsel recognize the expense and length of a trial in this 13 action against Defendant through possible appeals which could take at least another three years.
14 Class Counsel also have taken into account the uncertain outcome and risk of litigation, 15 especially in complex actions such as this Action. Class Counsel are also mindful of and 16 recognize the inherent problems of proof under, and alleged defenses to, the claims asserted in 17 the Action. Moreover, post trial motions and appeals would have been inevitable. Costs would 18 have mounted and recovery would have been delayed if not denied, thereby reducing the 19 benefits of an ultimate victory. Plaintiffs and Class Counsel believe that the settlement set forth 20 in the Stipulation confers substantial benefits upon the Settlement Class and each of the 21 Settlement Class Members. Based upon their evaluation, Plaintiffs and Class Counsel have 22 determined that the settlement set forth in the Stipulation is in the best interest of the Class.
23 (Blumenthal Decl at ¶8(b).)

24 Similarly, Defendant has concluded that settlement of this Action is desirable in the 25 manner and upon the terms and conditions set forth in the Stipulation in order to avoid the 26 expense, inconvenience, and burden of further legal proceedings, and the uncertainties of trial 27 and appeals. There can be little doubt that the agreed upon settlement of claims is the most 28 efficient and cost-effective method to provide refunds to the members of the Class who are

1 current and former employees of Defendant.

3 6. The Amount Offered in Settlement

4 The Settlement in this case of $5.4 million represents a substantial benefit for the Class.
5 The calculations estimates for the amount due for the nonpayment of wages were calculated by 6 CADA, Plaintiffs' damage expert. For the BAC employees, the overtime hourly rate used was 7 the rate of $35.33. The number of workweeks involved was 42,505 for the Class Period. Each 8 one (1) hour per workweek of unpaid overtime for the BACs equals $1,501,489.13 for the Class
9 Period, each missed meal break per work week for the BACs equals $1,000,992.75, and each 10 missed rest break per work week for the BACs equals $1,000,992.75. As a result, the Kaiser 11 was subject to claims at a rate of $3,503,474.63 for the combination of one unpaid hour of 12 overtime, one missed meal break, and one missed rest break per workweek for the BACs.
13 (Decl of Blumenthal at ¶8(d); Decl of Workman at ¶¶ 4-6).

14 For the SSS employees, the overtime hourly rate used was the rate of $50.76. The 15 number of workweeks involved was 9,283 for the Class Period. The SSS Class Members 16 worked additional unpaid overtime as a result of their on-call responsibilities, which was not 17 required of the BAC employees. Accordingly, CADA calculated that every four (4) hours per 18 workweek of unpaid overtime for the SSSs equals $1,884,820.32, each missed meal break per 19 work week for the SSSs equals $314,136.72, and each missed rest break per workweek for the 20 SSSs equals $314,136.72. As a result, the Kaiser was subject to claims at a rate of 21 $2,513,093.76 for the SSSs. (Decl of Blumenthal at ¶8(d); Decl of Workman at ¶¶ 4-6).

22 Consequently, Kaiser was subject to total claims of $6,016,568.39 for the entire Class 23 Period for the combination of unpaid overtime, missed meal breaks, and missed rest breaks for 24 the entire Class that was susceptible to solid proof. The settlement of $5,400,000, before 25 deductions, represents 89.75% of the estimated value of the claims, and after deduction of the 26 PAGA payment of $25,000, the attorneys' fees and costs payment of $1,450,000, the claims 27 administration payment of $50,000, and the Class Representatives' incentive awards of 28

1 $150,000, the Net Fund Value will equal $3,725,000, which is nearly 62% of the estimated 2 value, assuming these amounts could be proven at trial. This recovery is well in excess of the 3 25% to 35% of the actual estimated loss to the settlement approved in Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., 4 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8476 (N.D.Cal. Jan. 27 2007). As a result, the Settlement provides the 5 Class with nearly the same recovery as would have been sought at trial and a larger recovery
6 than obtained in similar litigation. (Blumenthal Decl at ¶8(d); Workman Decl at ¶¶ 4-6.)

8 V. CONCLUSION

9 For the reasons stated herein and in the accompanying declarations and lodgements, 10 Plaintiffs respectfully submit that the proposed settlement satisfies the standard of fairness 11 established in both California and the federal courts and should therefore be finally approved.
